Huddle to Brighten Someone's Day

We launched the StudySoup peer-to-peer learning marketplace in 2014. When we were in school, we found that success in the classroom can be a pretty ambiguous thing. Every class has hours of lectures and dozens of readings. Come midterm time, most students are overwhelmed and have no idea how they should study. Without fail, however, there are always a few top students in the class who know exactly what it takes to be successful. We decided to empower those top students to help their peers, and make money, by posting their best study materials to StudySoup.com.

At the end of the day, learning from your peers is the best way to learn, because after all, who understands your questions better than someone else in the class?

Before you begin writing your essay, consider these few important points:

- Be Specific

The best applicants understand what it means to be a leader and who have demonstrated leadership traits and qualities in their own lives. Don't just write that you have a desire to be a leader; share vivid examples of how you exemplify leadership. Avoid providing a list of accomplishments; rather, use specific examples to paint a detailed picture of you — the leader.

- Proofread Carefully

Your essay should be in your own words and free from grammatical, spelling, and syntax errors. We are expecting a clean and polished final draft. Use the resources at your disposal to ensure your essay is error-free and ready for submission.
