Private Pilots License

Take your first step in aviation and leave the world behind by earning your private pilot's license. Your private pilot's license gives you the freedom to travel almost anywhere in the world. Take your friends on a weekend trip or simply sightseeing from above, with a private pilot's license you can do it all.

Instrument Rating

No longer will you have to delay your trip or worry about the weather, with your instrument rating you can take to the skies even on those cloudy days. The instrument rating allows you to fly in instrument meteorological conditions, such as clouds and high altitudes, and is a must have for any serious pilot who does not want to be limited by Mother Nature.

Commercial Rating

With your commercial rating you can now be paid for your time as a pilot. This type of flying can range from banner towing to crop dusting to aerial photography. Also once you have your commercial pilot you can work towards becoming a Certified Flight Instructor which allows you to teach others about the wonderful world of aviation.

Multi-Engine Rating

Just as you might have guessed your multi-engine rating allows you to fly an aircraft with more than one engine. For the private pilot with a multi-engine rating you now have the ability to fly almost any piston driving airplane on the market, for the professional pilot most airlines want to hire pilots with as much multi-engine time as possible.
