

A Moment With The Tribal Chair

April 2015

Stephanie A. Bryan, Tribal Chair sbryan@pci-nsn.gov

Since being elected, I have been on a mission to incorporate changes that will bring you the best service possible from our Tribal entities; this includes services that are provided through my office as well.

I am pleased to announce that, after brainstorming with the Tribal Council and our support staff, we have decided to move office locations and streamline the duties and responsibilities of the staff. Your Tribal Council office and Tribal Chair's office will now be located in Building 600, which previously housed Tribal Administration. We are very excited about this move and the elevated level of service that will be provided to our Tribal Members and visitors.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce you to the Tribal Chair support staff. I am sure that most of you have had contact with them.

Megan Young is the Executive Assistant to the Tribal Chair.

Megan assists and supports the Tribal Chair in all aspects of the overall Tribal operations including, but not limited to, Tribal Government, Tribal Gaming, and Tribal businesses. Additionally, she serves as liaison between Tribal Chair Bryan and Tribal Members, staff members, Tribal entities, boards, and the general public. Megan may be contacted at myoung@pci-nsn.gov or (251)368-9136 extension 2205.

Kelli Ramer is the Tribal Council Office Director.

Kelli oversees the operations of the Tribal Council office and staff. Further, Kelli communicates directives from Tribal Council to the appropriate individuals and departments. She works closely with the Tribal Council support staff and Executive Assistant to ensure that Tribal Council's goals and objectives are being met. Kelli may be contacted at kramer@pci-nsn. gov or (251)368-9136 extension 2110.

Teresa Franklin is the Tribal Council Administrative Assistant.

She serves as the first point of contact for all incoming correspondence to Tribal Council including phone calls and mail. Teresa also assists Tribal Members and guests by directing them to the appropriate department or individual. Teresa can be contacted at tfranklin@pcinsn.gov or (251)368-9136 extension 2202.

Tierney Lancaster serves as the Scheduling Coordinator.

The Tribal Council frequently hosts community meetings, workshops, and working sessions. Furthermore, the Tribal Council routinely represents the Tribe at a myriad of events both locally and nationally. Tierney assists with scheduling, planning, and facilitating these events and travel engagements. She may be contacted at tlancaster@pci-nsn.gov or (251) 368-9136 extension 2200.

Debra Strickland is the Legislative Coordinator.

Debra composes minutes of meetings, workshops, and working sessions on behalf of the Tribal Council. Additionally, she attends department meetings and communicates the pertinent details of said meetings to the Tribal Council so that they may be better informed of upcoming projects, programs, policies, and procedures. She can be contacted at dstrickland@pci-nsn.gov or (251) 368-9136 extension 2935.

Mallory Martin is the Tribal Member Coordinator.

Triba1 The Council diligently seeks to put its members first. However, because of the demand of Tribal Council at frequent meetings and travel obligations, they realize that they are unable to always accommodate you as they would like. For that reason, Mallory is dedicated to you and will be your first point of contact for any issues or concerns you have. She may be contacted at mmartin@ pci-nsn.gov or (251) 368-9136 extension 2930.

Tribal Council's Purpose

Our love for our people and our commitment to their future drives us to make tough decisions and stand by them to provide stable governance.

With our blend of mature wisdom and modern knowledge, we grow the Tribe's assets to build self-reliance and enhance quality of life for all.

Tribal Council Values

As proud leaders of our Tribe, our integrity demands that we are true to who we are. Our integrity is the foundation of our love for family and community, which strengthens our faith and commitment to do what is right for the Tribe.

We will further the legacy of self-determination and self-reliance inherited from our elders by investing in the progress and driving a vision for the future that leads to our prosperity.

Tribal Council Update

April 2015

Garvis Sells, Member At-Large

This new year has brought several honors to different entities and departments within our Tribe. Our Boys & Girls Club was awarded the Gateway to Impact Award during Southeastern the Conference for Boys & Girls Clubs in the Southeast. This award is given to the top two clubs, out of the 1,004 clubs, that increased their average daily attendance the greatest from the previous year. Congratulations to the staff, children, parents, and Tribal Council for making it possible for our children to participate in this outstanding, award winning program!

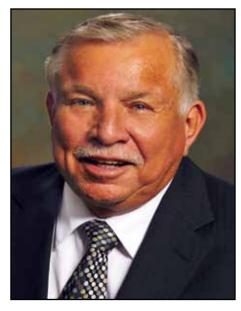

During the month of March our 4-H participants had the opportunity to participate in Poarch Creek 4-H Club's Cattle Battle and the Escambia County 4-H Calf Show & Sale, hosted by Perdido River Farms. There were many beautiful and healthy cows

thanks to the care that the 4-H'ers gave to them preparing for this contest. Awards were given to the participants in several categories. Congratulations to each and every one who participated in this event and made it such a success.

During Atmore's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Muskogee Technology received the Business of the Year award. This is a great honor and again thank you to Muskogee Technology management and staff for all of the hard work.

Many great changes are happening at Creek Casino Montgomery as well. Expansion is under way to build a 119 room hotel. There will also be three restaurants onsite for our patrons to have more dining options. These restaurants include the BB King Blues Club & Restaurant, Itta Bena Fine Dining, and Lucille's 24 hour Café. The gaming floor completion is expected by December 1, 2015 and the hotel by February 1, 2016.

It is truly exciting and warms my heart to see such a variety of accomplishments that our people have been involved in. It is my wish for each of our Tribal Members to achieve any goals they set for themselves. I am also happy to know that the Tribe can offer opportunities to our youth as well as our elders.

Please remember that I am always available and just a phone call away.

ATTENTION CORN FARMERS:

If you know of someone that is a corn farmer, you may want them to be aware of some national litigation which involves accusations that Switzerland-based Syngenta and its affiliates caused harm to the entire United States corn market, thereby injuring corn farmers and other businesses across the United States, by marketing two genetically modified strains of corn - Argrisure Viptera and Agrisure Duracade that were outlawed in China. China, a major importer of U.S. corn, began refusing shipments of U.S. corn more than a year ago after a genetic trait found in Viptera - MIR162 - was detected in the shipments. With the loss of the Chinese market, prices for U.S. corn plummeted. In 2014, losses to corn growers and the industry due to the loss of the Chinese market were estimated to be from $1 billion to $2.9 billion, and these losses continue to grow.

If you are someone or know someone who has grown corn and may have been damaged by the above conduct, please contact Chris Sanspree at 334-262-1001 or directly via e-mail at chris.sanspree@sanspreelaw.com

An application is available on the Tribal Member Portal (TMOP) of the Tribe's web site, www.pci-nsn.gov, and has been included in this issue of the newsletter. You may also pick up an application or walk-in to fill out your application at the Tribal Member Benefits Department on the 2nd floor of the Buford L. Rolin Health Center. The monthly benefit on the Utilities Card will be $200. Cards will be initially credited for $800; which will be $200 each for the months of January, February, March, and April. Beginning with the month of May, the cards will be credited with an additional $200 each month. All applications processed prior to June 1, 2015, will receive the $800 credit in addition to the $200 monthly credit thereafter. - 2) A copy of one Utility Bill (Basic landline telephone, water, power, sewer, trash, natural gas/propane). The bill must state the Tribal Member's name, service address, and mailing address. If the bill is in another household member's name, proof of relationship is required, such as a copy of marriage certificate for a spouse, birth certificate for a parent/child, or a proof of ownership such as a copy of a deed or lease agreement. For a full-time student at a different address other than the parent, proof of full-time enrollment is required along with a copy of a lease which must either be in the student's name or parent's name.
- 3) A copy of your Tribal ID or Driver's License.

Unused funds from one month will be rolled over to the following month and remain as a credit balance on the card. The funds will not be "refunded" as a direct payment to the Tribal Member.

If you have any questions about the Tribal Utilities Assistance Program, please contact Tribal Member Benefits at (251) 368-9136 x 2207 or 2209. Please contact Hannah Flowers in Government Relations at (251) 368-9136 x 2003 or hflowers@pci-nsn.gov if you need assistance with your username and password for the TMOP.

Have you visited Kerretv Cuko (Building of Learning), the Poarch Band of Creek Indians Museum and Gift Shop? The Poarch Creek News would like to take you on a tour of the museum!

"Aceyepvs", come in. You are invited into the living history of the Tribe. This isn't a story of a people at rest and gone, this is a community that has been living, struggling, and overcoming for centuries. Here you will experience the commitment to community and the adaptable spirit that has led the Tribe through centuries of challenge and change. Today we continue to preserve our legacy through tradition, tribal involvement, and community betterment. The Museum exhibits invite you to encounter a way of life, a culture woven over centuries¹.

Our exhibit this month features handmade baskets crafted by some of our local basket makers.

Creek baskets were typically woven with a single element twill plaited weave: flat strips, of equal size, passed over and under each other (one over and under one). Twilling, usually produced by; weaving two strips over and two strips, produced diagonal, herringbone, and zig zag patterns².

Creek baskets were constructed in four basic forms: corn holder, sifter (also known as "riddle"), tray (later called "winnow"), and utility baskets.

Creek baskets were generally constructed of hickory or river cane. These materials are difficult to obtain by Tribal weavers in modern times.

The double false rim was the preferred finish on basket rims on Creek baskets, also described as twilled or twisted double false-braid. Hickory splints were trimmed with neatly beveled edges.

Creek baskets had no lids. The use of handles on Creek baskets was very rare... if utilized; they were applied after the basket was completed.

Creek weavers used few variations of form...mostly squared bottoms and rounded openings.

Dyed splints use was rare...mostly brown from black walnut. Use of red was almost non-existent in historic times. Basket bottoms were not dyed.

Though we don't know for absolute certainty, traditional Creek basket making probably ceased among the Poarch Creek community in the early 1900's. There is some reference in the early 1920's that would suggest that there may have been someone who still knew about making cotton picking baskets from hickory strips or weaving small fish or bird traps. At this point, we can only guess when basket construction ended in the community.

Pine needle basketry saw revival among the Poarch Band of Creeks Indians in the early 1990's as Tribal Member and historian Gale Thrower received grants from the Alabama Folk life Program. Through these grants Gale mastered this craft and apprenticeships and community classes were offered. Gale received the State Folk Artist of the Year in 1994 for her work in reintroducing pine needle basketry back into the Tribal community. She also experimented with a variety of materials and continued weaving many forms of baskets until her retirement.

River cane basketry, a traditional Creek art form, had long died out with the gradual disappearance of the once common river cane in our area. River cane basketry was reintroduced into the Tribal Community in 2010 when Mary Smith came into the community to teach Creek basketry classes. Though the earliest classes were largely taught using binder cane material, artisans graduated to using actual river cane and learned how to prepare it for weaving. The lack of available river cane in our area for weaving made these efforts even more difficult.

Tribal members Amber Alvarez and Margaret Baggett were among the first Poarch Creek artisans to produce a set of Creek utility baskets from river cane material. They were supervised by Mary Smith and these baskets are on display in the Poarch Creek Museum. Margaret has since become the Tribe's Traditional Arts Demonstrator and expanding her use of various basket materials, as well as teaching to the Tribal community.

Today basket making in its many different forms is alive and thriving, throughout the Poarch Creek Community. The resurgence of interest in river cane basketry construction has also brought with it some additional benefits: the Tribe is actively engaged in a number of river cane restoration projects throughout the reservation.

This beautiful display of Tribal handmade baskets is just one exhibit; some of the other items on exhibit at the Museum include Fred Walker's hunting rifle, authentic turtle shell shakers and stickball sticks, the original petition for Federal Recognition, and many more exciting items just waiting for you to come explore.

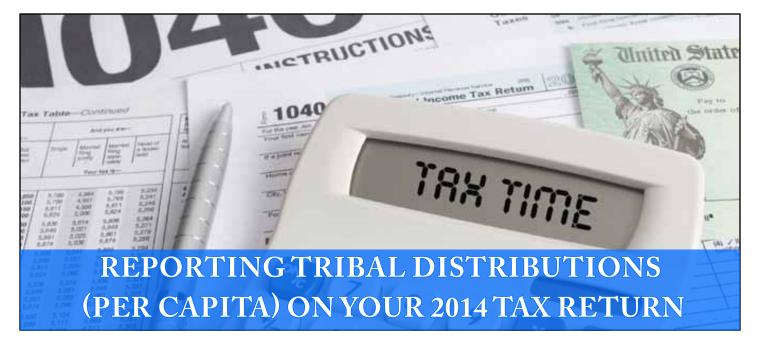

The Museum is open Monday-Friday from 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Please stop by the next time you visit the Reservation.

As a Tribal Member of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians, a federally recognized Indian tribe, you received taxable distributions from the Tribe in 2014. The Tribe must report these distributions to the IRS and to you on Form 1099-MISC.

If you are expecting a refund, correctly preparing your 2014 federal tax return may help avoid refund delays. Please make sure that you include information from your Form 1099-MISC when you file.

Follow these instructions when filing your 2014 federal income tax return:

- Use Form 1040; not Form 1040A or Form 1040EZ.
- On Form 1040, line 21, enter the amount of tribal distributions from Form 1099-MISC, Box 3.
- On Form 1040, line 21, include a description of the income in the space provided on Line 21. To avoid processing delays, enter one of the following descriptions on Line 21:
 - INDIAN GAMING PROCEEDS
 - INDIAN TRIBAL DISTRIB
 - NATIVE AMERICAN DISTRIB
 - Spell the descriptions exactly as listed above. These descriptions facilitate the processing of your tax return. For example, if you spell out DISTRIUBTION rather than using DISTRIB, the IRS may reject your return and delay your refund.

If you receive a letter requiring a response from you, respond to the letter in a timely manner. Do not ignore it. While the correct descriptions shown above are important, it is crucial you respond timely to any letter requesting your response. Some letters do not require a response. These are called notices. Notices are sent by the Internal Revenue Service to inform you of the length of time your refund is expected to be delayed.

The IRS's hard work to protect taxpayers from fraud and identity theft may delay refunds for Tribal Members. All tax returns are subject to the refund fraud and identity theft filters. There are NO exceptions.

Although this diligence has affected everyone, Indian Tribal Governments (ITG), an office of the Internal Revenue Service, has gotten involved and the IRS has made strides in streamlining refunds. With automated processes and your following the guidelines in this article, the number and length of delays should be reduced.

TRIBAL COUNCIL PROCEEDS WITH LIVE STREAMING OF TRIBAL COUNCIL MEETINGS

Although you may think differently at times, the Tribal Council does hear the concerns of the General Council and seeks the best way to accommodate those concerns for the betterment of the Tribe as a whole. In their continuing effort to maintain transparency, the Tribal Council has added a Ustream Channel to the Tribal Member Only Portal (TMOP) of the Tribal website. This channel is accessible to Tribal Members only, age 18 and above, utilizing their assigned TMOP username and password.

Over the past several months, the Tribe's IT Department and the Government Relations Department have been working on the implementation of the Ustream Channel. As with any technology, there were kinks to be ironed out and issues that had to be addressed.

The Tribal Council invites you to log into the TMOP and watch live streaming of Tribal Council meetings beginning with the Tribal Council meeting scheduled for Thursday, April 2, 2015.

Public comments and Executive Sessions will not be streamed. The streaming is not interactive, it is audio and visual only. Tribal Members viewing by live stream will not have the capability to participate in the meeting and are asked not to share the streaming with others.

Please keep in mind that with all technology, there may be technical difficulties that are beyond our control. Please be patient with any technical difficulties that may arise.

Please contact Hannah Flowers at (251) 368-9136 x 2003 or hflowers@pci-nsn.gov if you need any assistance with your username and password.

DEWITT CARTER TRIBAL COUNCIL TREASURER

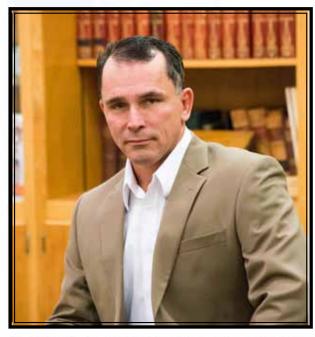

"Let Me Work Hard for You"

Hello to my Poarch Creek friends and family. My name is Dewitt Carter. I am the son of the late Dewitt Sells and the grandson of the late Eugene and Roberta Sells. I have a wonderful wife, Tressa Carter, and three children I am truly blessed to have in my life: My daughter Alyson Hames, my son D.J. Carter and my stepdaughter Candace Smith.

I am announcing my candidacy for Tribal Council Treasurer. I have extensive experience in my personal life and career that enables me to be the right choice for Tribal Council.

I joined the Army National Guard while still in high school, and upon graduation joined the Air Force, active duty, and was stationed at NORAD in Colorado Springs. While working, I attended college during my lunch break and after work at nights.

After the death of my mother, I returned home to Atmore, Alabama where I taught myself welding and pipefitting. In the 1990s, I rode bulls and became an active member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association while also working.

In 1996 I became an active member of the Eastern Indian Rodeo Association. I placed second my first year and I placed first for the next three years. In 1999 I entered the Indian National Finals Rodeo and finished second in the world (I am very proud of that accomplishment.) When I met my soon-to-be wife I decided I wanted to spend more time with her and her daughter and not travel as much. In 2000 I started my own business, Carter Mobile Homes Movers and have been blessed ever since.

DEWITT CARTER TRIBAL COUNCIL TRANSFERM

In 2006 I contracted with the Poarch Creek Indians to transport mobile homes and was confronted with the realism of the way many of our tribal members lived and was shocked at the lack of attention to their needs. After some discussion with Ms. Peggy Couch, probably my number one supporter, I decided that maybe I could do more to help my fellow tribal members. I believe I can do an amazing job for the tribe.

At the time Hurricane Ivan hit I was awarded a subcontract under FEMA for disaster relief. A year later, Hurricane Katrina came along and I had performed so well on my original contract, FEMA awarded me an eight million dollar contract, which I effective managed and completed. In 2010, I was again awarded multiple disaster relief contracts for federal authorities after the tornadoes in Tuscaloosa, Alabama and Joplin, Missouri.

Growing up in Poarch taught me life lessons and morals that I share with my children and I lean on still to this day. We helped each other. We worked together and we respected each other. At dinner it was normal to have one or two extra kids at the dinner table. It was maintaining a friendship that I still have and cherish to this day. Those good ole days are not so far gone that we can't bring it back.

There's a few things which concern me and other Poarch Creek Indians that we would like to see changed:

First generation: A very big question mark for our tribe. I believe in order to add first generation the council will need to be very diligent in compiling information. We need all of the facts concerning an accurate head count and the exact amount of funds that can be used. This decision will affect the future of our tribe as well as effecting our seniors right now. I want the general council, you, to vote on this matter. After the vote, as a council member I will support and uphold the decisions of the tribe.

Per Capita: After I received my first few per capita payments, I was led to believe whatever the amount of each check was, we would be guaranteed a check for that amount for the next three to five years. I was pleased that the tribe was looking out for my future as well as yours. Now with the checks extending into the thousands, it seems more important than ever to make sure to provide for our I recently spoke with a respected council member concerning this matter and he told me that it is no longer the situation. For example, if we received $10,000 this year, next year it is possible to only receive half that amount or less. But, with profits, it could also double. As a council member I would work towards a program that gives you piece of mind that your per capita check will not decrease for at least five years.

Health Insurance: I would like to see tribal spouses added to the group insurance. Not necessarily free to them as it is to us, but at least affordable. A lot of us use our per capita checks to help with healthcare costs. It would help all of us if we were able to add our spouses and dependents.

Elders: I will work towards making the assisted care facility affordable so that our seniors can receive the care they deserve. I see it as a shame to have such a modern facility with so many vacancies due to the high cost.

Our Youth: I would like to see a better program for our youth concerning receipt of their first per capita check. My understanding is they only have to complete an 8-hour class on financial responsibility in order to receive that first check, which is a substantial amount and increasing every year. It is a rare individual, who at the age of 18 to be able to manage that kind of money. I do have faith in our youth, but I believe a portion of it should be allotted monthly so as our youth will not go into debt and will be better able to manage money.

Our Future: As a council member I want to pursue our options in Florida, the proposed casino in Nokomis, although risky, but necessary, and the possible casino in or around Jacksonville would be extremely beneficial for our families.

As for the growing of marijuana in Florida, I have mixed feelings. I am a father and do not want my children to have exposure to drugs of any kind. However, if Florida does pass the medical use of marijuana as Colorado did and was regulated as Colorado has shown that it can be done successfully, then it might be to our advantage that we discuss this further.

Tribal Member Services: We have a large tribe spread throughout the U.S., with concentrations in Poarch and Pensacola. Because of that concentration in and near Pensacola, I would like to see a small facility dedicated to pharmaceutical pick-up in the area. The savings to tribal members would be significant. Instead of driving 50 miles away to get your prescriptions, you can drive 5 miles to pick them up.

I would like to see an oil change/tune up garage built in Poarch. A tribal member could stop in and get their vehicle tuned up/oil change and only pay for the cost of material. I would like to see a discount rewards program extended to tribal members. If you eat at the casino or stay the night, you shouldn't have to pay the same amount as a non-tribal member. After all, it is your profits that built it.

I have repeatedly said we need a commissary at or near Poarch. Again, the savings will benefit tribal members and their families.

It saddens me to see the results brought on by these disenrollment discussions. I believe it is a Pandora's Box for our tribe. As a council member concerning this matter, I will lean on our constitution for support and guidance but I'm not foolish either. Sometimes I would have to enlist common sense.

I will work with previous treasurers, Arthur Mothershed and Robbie McGhee to become the best treasurer possible. With our combined knowledge and their experience as council treasurers, I should be able to fulfill this position with little to no trouble.

In conclusion I would like to thank a few tribal members who have helped me tremendously while on my path. Peggy Couch and Catherine McGhee Dees, two of my biggest supporters. Warren Chavis of Michigan, who believes in helping his fellow neighbor. Lindsay Brown, Jennifer and Jimmy Manning, a family who believes in me.

My name is Dewitt Carter and I would like to work for you as our next Tribal Council Treasurer

This month the Poarch Creek News is honored to feature two Tribal Member Veterans, United States Air Force veteran Millard Peacock, and United State Marine Corps veteran Bernard Ocie "Pete" McGee, Jr.

VETERAN'S ALUTE

Millard Peacock Sergeant United States Air Force

Millard Peacock, the son of the late Roy Peacock and the late Lillie Sue Parker Peacock, was born on a farm one mile north of the State Prison Farm near Huxford, AL. His grandparents were John Gable Peacock and Rosia Ella Dees Peacock. He remembers that his family didn't have much but that he had great experiences and adventures growing up. "We had wonderful times in Semirah Springs; the games, the killing of hogs, the Smoke House, pitching washers, Broom Ball, and the making of syrup."

Millard joined the U.S. Air Force in 1960, shortly after graduating from high school. He was first was sent to Dobbins, AFB, in Marietta, Ga. He was in 4632nd Air Defense Command (ADC), which was shortened to just 32nd ADC. He was a Crypto and Teletype Operator in Communications. In late 1960 and early 1961, Millard and his team were monitoring Russian Bear and Badger planes flying along the Eastern Seaboard from North and South Carolina down to Cuba. When the General came into the Communications Center it was Millard's job to set up the KY-9 voice encryption machine. When it went green, the General called Strike Command at McDill, AFB in FL. Within a couple of hours, 8 F-101 Voodo's arrived at Dobbins. The pilots, dressed in black flight suits, were then sent to track the Russian Bombers.

Millard's team was soon sent to Oklahoma to a Radar site behind Tinker AFB; there they were responsible for the Air Defense over Cuba. Millard was assigned to General Hubert S. Judy and General Thomas J. Gent, and Naval Commander Wooley. His job was to carry "Commanders Eyes Only" Not For Foreign Nationals (NORFORN) and processed Cryptographic messages. Millard also worked with ZZ (Flash) and YY (emergency) messages and Submarine Intelligence reports (Setraps).

After Cuba, Millard was assigned to Clark AFB in the Philippines. There he was in the 1st Mobile Communications Division. "We wore black hats; we called it the land of Black Hats! We worked out of black vans with no markings. Some of us went to Vietnam, some to Laos. We did communications, Teletype and Crypto. While in the Philippines he went through "Buddy Care" where they had jungle training and learned how to deliver babies and how to deal with different wounds. "The uncertainty, and people not knowing what would happen next, gave a person a kind of fear. If a leaf made a noise in the wind you were just as apt to open fire on it with your weapon, the M16."

After the Philippines, Millard was sent to Dauphin Island, and then to Hurlburt Field/Eglin AFB in Ft. Walton Beach, FL. From there he was sent to Karamusel Turkey just up from Yalova; he was in Critic Communications, anything critical to the United States. They were the Primary Relay to Ft. George Mead, Maryland, as well to Europe and Asia military stations. Millard was in the Air Force Communication Service (AFCS) during that time. He was on duty and received the message from the USS Pueblo when it was captured off the coast of North Korea in 1968. "They sent out a worldwide message that they were being attacked. The message read "Boarding Ship, under fire, destroying equipment, send help, this is not a drill, repeat this is not a drill." I was Send Bank Supervisor at the time and my job was to see nothing interfered with the message; I read the message as it was coming in, I forwarded it to the Little White House."

Millard states that the site at Karamusel, was like a James Bond movie. "We had antenna's that would pick up any transmission. We knew Russian pilots by name. We monitored all traffic out of the Black Sea as well. There is no need now for any of what we did back then; we have satellites to do that now."

Millard was discharged from the service in 1969. He went to trade school to study electronics. He later moved to Georgia where he worked at Robins AFB in Warner Robins, GA for 34 years as an Electronic Technician. In the beginning he worked at night and went to school studying electronics during the day. At Robins he worked on the F111 Raven, F4 AWW (Advance Wild Weasel) B52 and 26 years on the F15, Black Boxes, ECW (Electronic Counter Measures). Electronic Warfare (EW)

Millard received a letter from President Carter on the work that he did.

Millard married Linda J. Stacey from Bratt, FL on February 28, 1965, they reside in Byron, GA. They have four sons, Millard Peacock Jr. of Edmond, OK; James Darrell Peacock of Byron, GA; Daniel Wayne Peacock of Byron, GA; and Christopher Michael Peacock of Stone Mountain, GA.

Millard Peacock just one of many Tribal Members who have proudly served for their family, their Tribe, and their country. Because of their sacrifices, we enjoy the freedoms we have today.

Assisted Living Facility

ASSISTED LIVING FACILITY EXPANDS SERVICES

The Lavan Martin Assisted Living Facility (ALF) was built to provide Tribal Member services to those Tribal Members who needed assistance with daily living skills. However the facility has few residents. The Tribal Council has approved the expansion of services provided at the ALF to a greater number of individuals, including spouses and widows of Tribal Members, First Generation Descent, and the general public.

The Tribal Council re-evaluated the payment rates based on the status of the individual receiving services. Tribal Members will continue to pay based on a level of care scale, with the highest level of care rate equal to approximately sixty-five percent (65%) of the local market rate. The level of care is based on the individual's needs as determined by the Care Plan team which includes the individual, his/her physician, and the ALF management team.

The rate for spouses and widows of Tribal Members and First Generation Descent will be eighty-five percent (85%) of the local market rate with the general public paying the full market rate (100%). There will be no level of care rates for these individuals.

JOIN US FOR A FREE RETINAL SCREENING Thursday, April 23rd from 2:00—4:00pm

Free Diabetic Retinal Screeing

A once yearly retinal screening appointment is carried out to identify early signs of diabetic retinopathy. If allowed to develop, diabetic retinopathy can lead to blindness.

For this reason it is important to attend your retinal screening once a year. We do free retinal screenings each month and invite everyone to attend.

Do I qualify for diabetic retinopathy screening?

Everyone with diabetes should have a retinal examination once a year. If you are concerned that you may be developing retinopathy, schedule a Comprehensive eye exam today with Dr. Amanda Cobb by calling 251.446.3937.

I'm not diabetic, Do I still need to have a screening?

You do not have to be diabetic to attend the free retinal screenings at Premier Family Eye Care. Retinal screenings not only detect diabetic retinopathy, but glaucoma and macular degeneration as well. We provide this service at no charge.

What happens at a retinal screening?

The technician will sit you down in front of a machine, enter your information and then align the camera up precisely to take the photograph of your retina. Each eye will be photographed then you will be shown what the inside of your eye looks like. There is no pain involved in a retinal screening.

When will I get the retinopathy screening results?

The photographs need to be examined in detail by the Optometrist. You will be notified within 48 hours if there is an issue that requires further testing.

LAUNCH OF NEW RESEARCH STATION IN THE ARCHIVES!

It is finally here! After a long time of strategic planning, the Office of Archives and Records Management is launching our new Research Station at our location in the Creek Indian Enterprises Development Authority complex at 100 Brookwood Road in Atmore (new telephone 446-4942, extension 2942). The Research Station was installed in the first week in March, and is now ready for use.

"This is a new research tool that will allow Tribal Members to conduct significant research of historic Tribal records," said Tribal Council Secretary David Gehman, who also serves as the Chair of our Tribal Records Committee. is a valuable tool and is the result of diligent work by the staff of the Office of Archives of Records Management Department," he said.

What exactly is the Research Station? Our Research Station is made up of a computer and printer at a two-person desk so that families can sit together to look up documents in the Tribe's vast archival collections. You can print out pages on the printer and take them home with you.

The Tribe's documents are housed on the computer in an advanced software program called Microsoft SharePoint which is in a searchable format. This means that patrons can type in key words such as "federal recognition" and the computer will search through the records for you. The computer will retrieve the findings on our Federal Recognition Petition and will display them on the computer screen for you to read. If you did not grow up using a computer, our professional, welltrained staff will help you operate the computer and printer.

What else can you find at the Research Station? Patrons can find the three censuses that the Poarch Band of Creek Indians uses for Tribal Enrollment, old black and white photographs, Tribal Council Minutes, and other historical documents.

As a part of the launch of our new Research Station, patrons can access rare books on Creek history in our new library including antique books from the Gail Thrower Collection and vintage cookbooks by Tribal Members on traditional Creek recipes. Patrons can also read books on political science from the Zohair Husain Collection. These books, donated by University of South Alabama Associate Professor Dr. Zohair Husain, help us understand the political world around us and how American Indians fit into the changing political landscape.

Ms. Paula Smith was our first patron to use the Research Station. Who will be next?

YOU NEVER KNOW WHO MIGHT SHOW UP IN THE ARCHIVES!

You never know who might show up in the Archives!

Tribal Elder Ms. Delores Kelley was processing the Dr. J. Anthony Paredes Collection in the Office of Archives and Records Management, and guess who showed up in a news article? The first person she noticed was Tribal Councilwoman Ms. Sandy Fretwell, now Hollinger, who is pictured in this photograph along with other participants in the Indian Health Service Health Camp. "This brings back memories," Ms. Kelley said. "We had a ball!"

Although it was over a quarter of a century ago, Ms. Kelley remembered vividly that John Arthur McGhee drove Creeks in the van to the Health Camp in Cherokee, North Carolina, but "there were also Indians from a lot of other tribes." The youth enjoyed "going on walks," Ms. Kelley said, and participating in the 5K run with renowned Olympic gold medalist Billy Mills (Oglala Lakota Sioux), who later came to this area and assisted in organizing running events just before our Thanksgiving Pow Wow.

In addition to health-centered endeavors, they engaged in leadership activities. "The kids talked about what they wanted to be when they grew up," Ms. Kelley said, including, one day, becoming our Tribal Chair.

What else is in the September 1987 edition of the Poarch Creek News? There is a broad range of news articles about Tribal Members constructing the "new" Fire Station, instructions on detecting the HIV/AIDS virus, and descriptions of Creek stomp dancing at Green Corn. Come by the Office of Archives and Records Management to read the rest of the story, or call us at 446-4528 if you want a copy.

Again, you never know who might show up in the Archives! Mvto.

YOUR HEALTH MATTERS

Small Decisions Make Big Things Happen

Healthy Habits: The Struggle Is Real

l am often asked if I wrestle with eating healthy all the time, the answer is: absolutely. Perfection is impossible! I am, however, able to stick with an 80/20 rule. If I make healthy choices 80% of the time, then I have 20% to use for other circumstances. Slip-ups and overindulging can happen but it won't add up to much in the long run if the majority of my choices are healthy. Instead of beating myself up, I stay positive, move on and know that I am doing the best I can. My top three struggles are drinking water throughout the day, eating a healthy dinner after work and satisfying my sweet tooth.

These are the solutions that have worked for me:

Drinking 8 glasses of water each day

Water, to me, is very plain. I switch between water with a slice of lemon or orange and carbonated water. The flavor of the fruit and bubbles taste better to me so I end up drinking more water. After doing this for a week or so, I've found that it changed my craving for sweeter drinks and I no longer view drinking water as a chore.

Nutritious dinner each night

When I get home from work after a long day, I'm too tired to cook. To keep myself from buying fast food, I came up with a solution: I prepare all of my dinners for the week on Sunday. I keep the prepared meals in the fridge or freezer. That way, when I get home during the week, I only have to heat them up. Also, while I'm cutting ingredients for my meals, I put some vegetables in Ziploc bags for snacks. Then, whenever I want to reach for a snack, I have a healthy choice that's even faster than take out.

Conquering my sweet tooth.

I wish I could say that I did not like sweets, but I do. I enjoy having something sweet each day. I have 3 dark chocolate Hershey Kisses after dinner each night. Only 60 calories and they totally satisfy my craving without spiking my calories for the day.

See if these tips work for you! Please share any solutions you discover. Remember that small steps add up to big changes.

Reach out to me with any questions. I'm delighted to help.

Training For Life

"The journey is better than the inn." ~Miguel De Cervantes

This quote has meant a lot to me over the years. It helped me focus on enjoying athletic pursuits instead of attaining a certain result. I've learned to enjoy the journey but had many up and downs along the way. I've had sore or pulled muscles, dislocated an elbow, ACL reconstruction, and hip surgery. Because I've learned from all this, I can honestly say it's been worth it! I wouldn't change any of these experiences. I've gained some powerful knowledge. Sharing what I've learned and supporting others has been my biggest passion. I have enjoyed the thrill of winning and achieving my goals, but it has been the journey and connecting with others that I've enjoyed the most. I'd like to share some things that help keep me motivated:

It all starts with the why! When I establish a goal I first connect with the purpose or intention. My purpose in fitness is to challenge my mind, body I really enjoy this and value the and spirit. confidence and achievement I feel. One of the reasons I keep striving now that my athletic career is over is that I continue to feel that my options are limitless. I would feel very disheartened if I let myself slip into a deconditioned state because this would prevent me from connecting to a huge source of joy for me. You also must establish why you want to be fit. What is the feeling you'd like to have? What would being fit allow you do to more of? Whatever your answer is, keep that in the front of your mind. You'll need to connect with this feeling to keep you motivated. Establishing "The why" is where your journey starts and it's also what will keep you on track.

Align Your Habits After I have established "The Why", I begin to align my habits accordingly. This has been the key to my success over the years.

This means making small tweaks in my lifestyle. Simplifying my life allows me to focus. For example, if I am trying to reach a body fat goal, I make a schedule of training, plan meals, and focus on getting adequate sleep. I try to eliminate distractions. I am not perfect nor will I ever be. That's not the goal. I've learned to love the process.

I hope this information will allow you to train for life and achieve your goals. I'm rooting for you! Win The Day!

THANK YOU TO OFFICER VALON MCGHEE

Our community is well aware of the outstanding performance of our Tribal Police Officers, in fact we may often take them for granted. Recent visitors to the Wind Creek Casino had the opportunity to experience first hand the genuine concern of our local officers. Their experience generated the following thank you letter:

On February 3, 2015, we were traveling to Gulf Shores for a few weeks and decided to stop at the casino in Atmore. Upon our return to our car, we found that the car would not start as if the battery were dead.

We summoned help from the casino to jump start the battery. Officer (Valon) McGhee arrived with a starting battery and cables. After confirming our identity and ownership of the vehicle, she tried to jump our battery.

Tribal Officer Valon McGhee

The jump starting was in vain, and after advice from two other men in the parking lot that did not work out, we began trying to make arrangements to have the car towed to a local Chevrolet dealer and to determine how we would arrange transportation to Gulf Shores.

At this time Office McGhee suggested she could call a friend for advice in clearing and resetting the car computer so that the vehicle would be able to start. Officer McGhee made the call and through her, we followed her friend's directions and the car started immediately.

We are very grateful to Officer McGhee for her help and the extra effort she made. It saved us time, trouble and expense. We offered her a gratuity but she promptly and adamantly refused it.

Officer McGhee represented your police force in a very professional manner, but with the appropriate amount of friendly Alabama helpfulness. We can't express how much she was appreciated.

Sincerely,

Mike and Janet Brown

Tribal Utilities Authority

PCI Utilities Authority has replaced all the residential water meters on the Escambia County Utilities (ECU) system. We are currently waiting on the 3 commercial meters and appropriate backflow prevention devices to arrive for installation on commercial sites. With these innovative meters, the water loss on the ECU system has decreased tremendously.

Our National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) Permit, which was issued when the Waste Water Treatment Plant was first built, was recently renewed. We have received the new permit and it will be effective until the year 2020.

The Utilities Authority is currently assessing garbage needs of other Tribally owned properties and entities in an effort to determine if PCI Utilities can meet the demands of those facilities in an effort to offer and provide collection services internally.

The Tribal Council recently amended Titles 30, 42 and 45 of the Tribal Code that governs or affects the PCI Utilities Authority. These changes will not affect the services or quality of water, sewer, and garbage benefits that we strive to provide.

We have also added a new face to our team; Larry Bailey Jr., Operations Technician. Larry is already making a tremendous contribution to our department and is an asset to the organization.

The PCI Utilities Authority continues making improvements to the system for augmenting our proficiency.

As always, PCI Utilities strives at providing the most efficient service to our valuable customers and community.

Applications for Service with the Utilities Authority are available at the Utilities Department and have been posted on the Utilities Authority page of the Tribal web site, www.pci-nsn.gov. Application must be downloaded, completed, signed, and returned to the Utilities Authority. Signed applications may be emailed to alowe@pci-nsn.gov, faxed to (251) 446-1624 or hand delivered or mailed to Poarch Creek Indians Utilities Authority at 263 Aplin Road, Atmore, AL 36502.

Working as the economic development arm of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians, Creek Indian Enterprises Development Authority (CIEDA) oversees the non-gaming enterprises owned by the Tribe. Additionally, CIEDA executes and oversees building, construction and development projects commissioned by the Tribe.

CIEDA SMALL BUSINESS LOAN PROGRAM

Indian Creek Enterprises Development Authority offers valuable business assistance to Tribal Members seeking small business loans. Getting your loan request approved depends on how well you represent yourself, your business, and your financial needs.

The lending limit may extend up to $100,000.00 in aggregate to any Tribal Member. All loans exceeding $50,000.00 must be approved by the CIEDA Board of Directors.

Additional credit criteria as well as loan collateralization requirements apply.

If you are a Tribal Member who owns a business or is thinking about starting a business and are interested in obtaining a small business loan, please contact Donna Henry, Economic Development Coordinator, at 251-368-0819, or by e-mail at dhenry@pcicie.com for additional information or to schedule an appointment.

CIEDA SMALL BUSINESS PROGRAM HELPS TRIBAL MEMBERS PROSPER

Every child dreams of what they want to be when they grow up, but the world can be a daunting place when you become an adult and set off on your own path.

Success is measured differently for everyone. For some, that inspiration might come from the business world, or any job that fulfills a personal interest. For others, higher education and knowledge is what drives them. And some dream of one day owning their own business.

However, the road to entrepreneurship isn't always easy. But by utilizing the CIEDA Small Business Loan Program, all Poarch Creek Tribal Members have the opportunity to fulfill their passions.

The loan program was launched in April 2007 and has experienced a 95 percent success rate in its applicants. The CIEDA Board and Tribal Council aspires to see participants prosper and created the program so Tribal Members have a chance to pursue what they love.

"We believe this to be one the most successful programs we have helping our Tribal entrepreneurs," said Tim Martin, CEO of CIEDA.

Donna Henry, Economic Development Coordinator for CIEDA, oversees the CIEDA Small Business Loan Program.

The program is open to Tribal Members only and all applicants must have a credit score of at least 650 to qualify. According to Donna Henry, Economic Development Coordinator for CIEDA, there are 18 existing loans that are paid in full and about 23 active businesses operating with current loans.

"We have a little over $1.4 million that we have loaned out to date," Henry said. "The average loan is about $41,000, and the max we allow is $100,000."

Loan types vary and could be given for such things as construction, refinancing, start-up business costs, or to expand an existing business. There are three loan tiers for participants. For a loan of $50,000 or less, the terms are a 2 percent interest rate with amortization (distribution of payment) up to five years. For $50,000 to $75,000, there is a 2.5 percent interest with amortization up to seven years. For $75,000 to $100,000, it's at 3 percent interest with amortization up to 10 years.

Loans are secured in two ways: by per capita payments or by collateral. Loans secured only by per capita payments are riskier because CIEDA only has the Member's payment to fall back on for repayment in the event of a loan default. However, collateral-secured loans are those in which assets are held as repayment if default occurs.

If you are a loan recipient and would like your business featured in upcoming articles, call Jen Peake, Marketing Content Specialist for CIEDA, at 251-446-4509.

Massive freezer creates big opportunities for Muskogee Technology

Business is booming at Muskogee Technology, and the reasons behind it are recent additions to the facilities in Atmore. Partnering with GKN Aerospace gave Muskogee Technology opportunities to work with quality customers and produce quality parts. The company utilized the space it has by expanding its abilities to manufacture at a higher level, building an industrial freezer and adding a cleanroom to produce parts.

Muskogee Technology began building the freezer in 2013 and started housing composite materials it purchased from GKN in May 2014. Since then, a cleanroom has been installed and four cutting machines were brought in to cut the material for GKN and its customers.

Those parts are made out of what is called prepreg composites, which made the freezer at Muskogee Technology necessary for complete operation. Prepreg is a temperature-sensitive material and must be stored at 0 degrees Celsius (32 degrees Fahrenheit) or colder to prolong its shelf life. At Muskogee Technology, the freezer is kept between 0 and -5 degrees Fahrenheit, said Mal McGhee, director of marketing for Muskogee Tech. The shelf life of inventory kept in the freezer is about two years.

MT makes parts for various aircraft, engine inlets and other commercial components, such as rotor blades and assembly structures. Having a freezer in-house allows the company to work more efficiently and have better access to the material.

"When it's thawed out, the material is in a roll of fabric, kind of like vinyl,"

Carbon fiber is used in the production of aerospace parts. It is one of the prepreg materials housed in Muskogee Technology's industrial freezer.

McGhee said. "It is then laid down on cutting machines and they cut the material using computerized knife cutting software."

Muskogee Technology has been working with GKN for a couple of years, McGhee said. With the addition of the freezer and cleanroom cutting machines, the company now has the ability to mass produce products for its customers.

Submitted by Jen Peake

New cleanroom expands Muskogee Tech's composite capabilities

Muskogee Technology has received the next certification in its steps to become a leading company in the aerospace industry. The company previously was certified on the industrial freezers it constructed to house composite fibers.

On Feb. 11, Muskogee Tech achieved its quality certification from GKN Aerospace on the new cleanroom MT has installed to produce parts for its GKN contract, including making parts for its customers. This certification allows Muskogee Tech to go into full production cutting composite material for GKN, a global engineering group.

Four new Eastman cutter machines have been installed in the cleanroom, which is an almost perfect environmental room consisting of the lowest levels of pollutants possible. By controlling the level of contamination, the cleanroom provides the most sterile of conditions for manufacturing excellence.

Muskogee Tech now will be able to perform at its highest level, making this certification a milestone for the company.

"This is the next step in our partnership agreement with GKN," said Lou Roberts, accounting manager at Muskogee Technology. Roberts said the company first purchased inventory in a consignment agreement for production, then completed the industrial freezers to house the inventory internally. Now, with this certification in place, Muskogee Technology becomes a qualified vendor to perform the necessary tasks for even larger manufacturing work in the aerospace industry.

What that means for the GKN contract, Roberts said, is "to take a portion of that inventory, take it out for (GKN's) customer, and cut it into kits to send back to GKN in Tallassee (Ala.), who will take those kits and put them into the form of a fuselage (the main body of an aircraft)."

The kits are designed in halves, the right side and the left side, and will be fitted into molds to make a complete fuselage, which will be baked in an autoclave oven, using the pre-fabricated materials from the freezer, until it becomes hard.

With this new endeavor comes the opportunity for more jobs. Roberts said about 10 new people will be employed to run the machines and about three or four others will further increase their responsibilities at Muskogee

"It's a whole new operation we've never done (before) ... it's a whole new kind of quality function our quality team has not been exposed to," Roberts said. "Although we are in the aerospace industry, we haven't been into full-blown airplane construction" until now.

Muskogee Tech awarded BUSINESS OF THE YEAR

Muskogee Technology was awarded the Business of the Year award Thursday, Feb. 26, by the Atmore Chamber of Commerce.

"We are proud of Muskogee Technology, and we appreciate the Chamber for recognizing their accomplishments," said Tim Martin, CEO of Creek Indian Enterprises Development Authority. "It is through the foresight of our Tribal Council and their investment in Muskogee Technology and the city of Atmore that we are able to continue to grow and be good neighbors."

An aerospace manufacturing company, Muskogee Technology has been a fixture in the Atmore community for more than 20 years. The company specializes in fabricating and machining services for a variety of government and commercial > clients and is owned and operated by the Poarch Band of Creek Indians.

"We are extremely proud that Muskogee Technology has been recognized as the Business of the Year by the Atmore Chamber of Commerce," Tribal Chair Stephanie A. Bryan said. "As a thriving Tribal enterprise, Muskogee Technology strives for expertise in many specialized areas, and to be recognized by the local community is very significant to us."

STUDY SAYS USDA EFFORT BENEFITS BIRDS AFTER 2010 GULF OIL SPILL

A newly released study says the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) effort to create habitat on private lands for migratory birds following the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill has provided significant benefits to ducks, geese and other birds. The independent study conducted by Mississippi State University (MSU) on USDA's Migratory Bird Habitat Initiative (MBHI), a Farm Bill conservation effort, shows that wetlands created and enhanced by farmers provided migration and winter habitat for many more birds than unmanaged sites.

"Catastrophes like the Deepwater Horizon oil spill can have lasting impacts on waterfowl and water birds," said Dr. William E. Puckett, state conservationist for USDA's Natural Resources Conservation "NRCS Service in Alabama. worked with farmers to create alternative habitat for waterfowl and other birds through Farm Bill conservation programs. The ecosystems that NRCS helped create through this initiative are thriving."

While the university is still collecting data, findings show the initiative generated substantial ecological, environmental economic benefits in the Gulf of Mexico region. NRCS launched MBHI in 2010, investing nearly $40 million to work in partnership with private landowners to create migratory bird habitat on more than 470,000 acres in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri and Texas.

"It's important we recognize how important this legislation is to our state and nation,"Puckett said. "The Migratory Bird Habitat Initiative is one example of how farmers and ranchers are voluntarily stepping up to improve the environment."

Millions of migratory birds, ducks, geese, including shorebirds travel the Mississippi Flyway each year to winter in Gulf of Mexico-area ecosystems, or in the case of many shorebirds, Central and South America. The study shows many of these birds benefitted from lands managed through MBHI.
