Ram Duriseti is enormously aware that higher education fee in the US is incredibly expensive if one looks at the information of other countries around the world. With this knowledge and awareness, Ram has come up with the Ram Duriseti Scholarship program with the noble cause of helping and assisting poor students in America so that they can enroll for advanced degree courses and stand out from the rest without worrying about paying for expensive college or university fees.

Ram Duriseti is a successful doctor who is happy to declare his yearly $1,000 scholarship for college or university students, who need additional financial aid to pay their tuition fees.

Ram Duriseti is aware that paying expensive university tuition fees for advanced courses is somewhat demanding, impossible actually; to speak the truth, for the candidates hailing from poor or moderate-income families in the US. The students from average financial backgrounds are forced to choose high-interest loans from banks, which is not the case for rich students belonging to affluent families for paying their advanced degree courses. That is why the Ram Duriseti Scholarship was initiated, which is a talent-based and merit-oriented prize for those candidates, who have the intellect and talent.

The scholarship money is helpful because the poor students will not be asked to return the prize amount unlike when they take a bank loan with steep rates of interest. It is just a one-time monetary aid or prize money for the most intelligent and worthy student who pens the best essay with a word limit of 700-850 words on the topic, “How advanced research and study are helping patients in the medical field to treat critical ailments?”

The higher education fees required in enrolling advanced studies in America seem to be increasing every year and many American students are finding it very challenging or not viable to shell out the money for their education on their own without any monetary assistance. With this aspect in mind, Ram has initiated the Ram Duriseti Scholarship with the righteous goal of assisting the most deserving and brilliant candidate in reducing financial problems and triumph over the financial compulsion of paying costly education fees in the reputed universities in America.

Ram Duriseti initiated this scholarship program, as he understands that most students fall short of paying for the costly post-secondary college education fee on their own with no assistance from outside. As far as these students are concerned, who have college savings plans can realize that they're not capable of fulfilling all the essential conditions. Ram Duriseti Scholarship is a talent-oriented, merit-based prize for the most deserving US student, who has the aptitude to pursue advanced education in the country.

The Ram Duriseti Scholarship initiative is solely for the disadvantaged students in America enrolling for advanced courses. Ram knows that the tuition fee at a private college in the US offering four-year advanced degree courses would prove very exorbitant around $34,740, and the state universities will ask from in-state students approx. $9,970 and the students from outside states will need to shell out a whopping $25,620. While a student wants to study in a reputed college, the annual costs would shoot up by about 2.4 percent at private colleges on average and yet again by around 3.2 percent in any reputed public colleges in America.
