How Financial Aid Works

The IHS Scholarship Program provides financial aid covering tuition, required fees and other educational and living expenses.

Tuition and Required Fees

IHS makes direct payment to your school covering tuition and required fees for the academic year. Summer school is excluded unless specifically requested and approved in advance.

Living and Educational Expenses

IHS provides a monthly stipend of no less than $1,500/month to assist our scholarship recipients in covering living expenses. Stipends are distributed beginning in August and are paid at the end of each month. Preparatory and Pre-Graduate scholarship recipients receive a stipend for a 10-month period while Health Professions scholarship recipients receive a stipend for 12 months.

In addition, IHS includes a one-time payment for educational expenses as part of your first stipend deposit. This payment includes:

- School-required books, laboratory expenses, dental/medical/optometric/podiatric/nursing equipment and other miscellaneous educational expenses.
- Tutorial services — $400 (full time) or $200 (part time) to assist with tutorial services or licensure/board certification preparatory classes.
- $300 to offset travel expenses to and from school for the year.
- $35 to offset the expense for a post office box rental.

Additional funds will not be available unless you provide accurate documentation indicating that your one-time payment did not cover the educational expenses provided to our recipients.

Selection Process

The IHS Scholarship Program awards scholarships based on a 100-point ranking system divided among three categories:

- Academic Performance (40 points) — Performance is based on your official transcripts. A minimum 2.0 cumulative GPA is required.
- Faculty/Employer Evaluations (30 points) — The evaluations assess your education and work achievements, interpersonal skills and overall potential and how those distinguishing qualities translate into a successful career as an Indian health professional.
- Applicant Essays (30 points) — The essays provide you with an opportunity to explain the reason(s) you are applying for a scholarship, your career goals and how your career goals will help to meet the needs of American Indians and Alaska Natives. The essays weigh heavily toward your ranking and are based on how well they're written and how well you express your career goals and desire to serve Native communities.

Your cumulative score is used to rank you against other applicants applying in the same degree program. Priority is given to applicants with the earliest projected graduation date.

Guidelines for Individual Awards

Application Deadline: February 3, 2020 for Summer 2020 Fellowships

Purpose

The ASPET Summer Undergraduate Research Fellow (SURF) Awards introduce undergraduate students to pharmacology research. Our goal is to use authentic, mentored research experiences in pharmacology to heighten student interest in careers in research and related health care disciplines.

The SURF individual awards are intended to support students whose institutions do not have a currently funded SURF program. Check if your institution has a SURF program now.

Who Should Apply

Undergraduate students conducting pharmacology-related research including, but not limited to, students representing departments of pharmacology, toxicology, pharmaceutical sciences, and/or biological chemistry are encouraged to apply for this program. Applications from those traditionally underrepresented in the biomedical sciences are particularly encouraged.

Program Requirements

- The mentor must be a regular or affiliate member of ASPET in good standing or an emeritus member who is still active in research.
- If awarded, ASPET will provide a student stipend of $2800 for a minimum of ten weeks participation in the program.
- The mentor is expected to sponsor the SURF Fellow for undergraduate student membership in ASPET at the beginning of their summer research experience.

Terms of the Award

- No indirect costs will be provided.
- Students must be enrolled full-time in a degree-granting undergraduate program, and may not graduate before the fellowship is completed.
- Allowed expenses include 1) student stipends or wages or 2) housing (which may include meal plans).
- All awards will be made directly to institutions. Students and mentors will be notified by March 15 if an award is to be made.
- Mentors of previous awardees may only re-apply if they are proposing a project with a different student.
- A mentor may apply with more than one student, but may not receive more than one award within a given year.

How to Apply for a SURF Individual Award

Applications should be submitted by the mentor and must include the following:
A letter from the mentor including:

- A brief description (250 words) of the proposed research project
- Qualifications of the student that make him/her a strong candidate for the award
- A brief description of the mentoring plan, including interactions with the direct supervisor and/or other lab personnel
- A brief description of enrichment activities available to the student, e.g. seminars, field trips, professional development opportunities, and interactions with peers
- A description of how the student will report on the research results including the mechanism for feedback
- The name and contact information of the institutional individual responsible for receiving the check (be sure to indicate to whom the check should be made payable)
- A copy of the mentor's NIH bio sketch.
  See https://grants.nih.gov/grants/forms/biosketch.htm for templates and examples. Each bio sketch should address the individual's contributions to training and mentoring undergraduates in the personal statement.
- A statement from the student (maximum 500 words) indicating the nature of his/her interest in the research project and how participation would contribute to his/her career goals
- Copies of all the student's undergraduate transcripts (student copies are acceptable)

- The student's contact information, including physical mailing address and e-mail address

The application package should be emailed as a single PDF to Catherine L. Fry, PhD at cfry@aspet.org

Reporting Requirements

Each individual SURF Fellow must submit a 1-2 page report of his/her research experience to ASPET no later than September 15 of the year of the award. This report should include the following sections:

1. Project title and abstract describing the research results (maximum 300 words)
2. A personal reflection on the experience and what it has contributed to the student's understanding of the research process and/or career plans (maximum 300 words)
3. Contact information for the student once they leave the mentor's laboratory (email address and physical mailing address)

Reports should be emailed as a single PDF to Catherine Fry at cfry@aspet.org. Students are also expected to complete the Survey of Undergraduate Research Experiences (SURE) no later than October 1 of the award year. ASPET staff will provide additional instructions for completing the survey. There is no requirement to file a financial report at the end of the fellowship period.

A portion of these awards is funded by the Glenn E. Ullyot Fund. Dr. Ullyot has generously provided this fund to support stipends for the education and training of students in the chemical and biological sciences that ASPET believes will benefit the profession of pharmacology and society in general.

Travel Awards: Undergraduate travel awards to attend the ASPET Annual Meeting (EB) are available on a competitive basis to SURF Fellows at the meeting following their SURF award.

The American Council of the Blind 2020 Scholarship

The American Council of the Blind has a great opportunity for students who are legally blind to earn a scholarship, whether they are going to a technical college, an entering freshman, undergraduate or a graduate student and scholarships range from $1,000 to $7,500. To be eligible for a scholarship, you need to be legally blind, maintain a 3.3 GPA, be a full-time student (as well as students who work 32 or more hours per week and attend college part time), and are involved in your school/local community. The Scholarship program awards students with scholarships which will help with post-secondary education financial needs such as tuition, fees, room and board and other additional costs associated with adaptive technology.

As a scholarship winner, you will experience firsthand ACB's National Conference and Convention in July, where you will meet other students who share the same life experiences, create lasting friendships and network with individuals who understand what you are going through and can help you with your journey.   There are also many sessions where you can learn about new technology and what is happening in our community.
