FIND OUT MORE ABOUT THE ECONOMIC IMPACT THE POARCH BAND OF CREEK INDIANS INITIATIVES CREATE.
We make a difference in the lives of our Tribal Members by fostering in them a spirit of independence and pride, connecting them to each other and their strong, unique heritage.

The Poarch Creek Indian community honors its proud heritage and spirit, values its people, encourages open communication and participation in all of its activities, promotes progressive partnerships with its neighbors and other organizations, and is a supportive, welcoming community that features exceptional economic and community development opportunities for all.
Dear Neighbors,

“Home is where the heart is.” I love that saying because like so many others in our Poarch community, I have lived on our Tribal lands my entire life, and the love I have for our place and our people has been my guiding force as a leader. As you have a chance to read and learn about our Tribe, I hope you will get to know more about the important role our ancestors played in helping Alabama’s earliest settlers. Our history also includes our struggles as an economically challenged community, many generations that worked hard to survive tough times, and families who have lived close and cared deeply for each other for many years. The past has shaped us into what we are today, many people with one purpose—all focused on doing what we can to help make life better for our people and our neighbors. As Alabama’s only federally recognized Tribe, we are ever mindful that those who came before us sacrificed much to ensure we could endure as an Indian nation. At Poarch, home is where the heart is—where generations of families still live, where we care about each other and our neighbors, and where dreams for a better future can be realized.

Thank you for taking the time to learn more of our Tribe’s personal story, and as Alabama Natives, Alabama Neighbors, we hope that you always know there is an open invitation to come visit us at our home.

Mvto (Thank you),

Stephanie A. Bryan, Tribal Chair/CEO
Poarch Band of Creek Indians

We act with fairness in all our decisions and policy applications inspiring others to trust our intentions and our actions.

This affirms our commitment to something bigger than any one of ourselves and encourages all to persevere when we confront challenges along the journey. The respect we show for the contributions of all to our common purpose creates the platform for open and honest interactions. This leads to collaborative relationships and openness to new ideas and growing levels of accomplishment.

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH
A nine-member Tribal Council, one-third of whom are elected each year, meets regularly to manage Tribal affairs.

EXECUTIVE BRANCH
The Tribal Chair is the CEO of the Tribe and is responsible for the overall management of the Tribal Government’s daily activities. Several departments perform administrative functions, including: accounting, human resources, education, family services, health services, safety, public works, utilities, economic development, legal, and resource development.

JUDICIAL BRANCH
The Tribal Supreme Court, Tribal Court, and Drug Court make up the Judicial Branch of the Tribe. The judicial system is an important exercise of Tribal sovereignty, as the state of Alabama has neither criminal nor civil jurisdiction over Indians located on the Reservation. The Federal Court System only has judicial authority over major criminal offenses that occur on the Reservation.
In 1984, the Poarch Band of Creek Indians became the only federally recognized Tribe in the state of Alabama.

Through the turn of the 20th century, the Poarch settlement was largely ignored and increasingly impoverished. In the 1940s, Tribal leaders took action to improve community conditions and educational opportunities, and, in 1950, more formal leadership was re-established, with a dedicated leader of a formal governing body. Currently, there are more than 2,900 members of the Tribe who possess at least ¼ Poarch Creek blood quantum. The Reservation is located eight miles northwest of Atmore, Alabama, in rural Escambia County, and 57 miles northeast of Mobile. The Poarch Band of Creek Indians has fought hard to preserve its proud heritage while moving forward into the mainstream of today’s modern society. The Tribe’s determination to maintain both its identity and inherent right to self-govern is evident by its continued efforts to preserve its Tribal culture and improve its community.
OUR HISTORY

OUR HERITAGE

As descendants of a segment of the original Creek Nation, the Poarch Band of Creek Indians have a rich heritage. This nation once covered most of Alabama and Georgia, and can trace its roots to the Paleo-Indian period. Our ancestors lived along the Alabama, Coosa and Tallapoosa Rivers, including areas from Wetumpka south to the Tensaw settlement. The Treaty of Fort Jackson, in 1814, forever changed the face of the great Creek Nation, as more than 21 million acres of Creek Indian land were ceded to the United States. In 1830, the historic Indian Removal Act imposed the resettlement of the Creek Nation from the remaining lands to present-day Oklahoma; this journey is known as The Trail of Tears. However, several Creek leaders and their families, because of their service in protecting Creek and White settlers, received land grants, in 1814 and again in 1836, which became the home of today’s Poarch Band of Creek Indians in southern Alabama.
The mission of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians continues to guide our Tribe toward a position of self-sufficiency and good citizenship in the community. With a fully functioning Tribal Government and more than 2,900 Tribal Members, the Tribe provides essential services.
We

PUBLIC SAFETY
The Poarch Band of Creek Indians’ Tribal Police Department is the primary law enforcement agency for the Poarch Creek Indian Reservation and operates under the Special Law Enforcement Commission of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). We have law enforcement agreements with the following agencies: the Escambia County Sheriff’s Department, the Montgomery County Sheriff’s Department, the Elmore County Sheriff’s Department, and the City of Wetumpka Police Department. Tribal Police also participate in the 21st Judicial Circuit Drug Task Force and the Elmore County Drug Task Force. The department is proud to also provide law enforcement services for the surrounding community.

TRIBAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT (EMA)
The Tribal Emergency Management Department has become stronger and undergone vast growth since it opened as a volunteer fire department in 1988. Today, the department includes firefighters, paramedics and emergency medical technicians. The department has participated in and received certification in courses that range from Confined Space to Advanced EMT. The Department provides emergency services to the Tribal Community and the surrounding area with two 24-hour fully-staffed and equipped fire stations.

TRIBAL JUDICIAL SYSTEM
The Tribal Judicial System was established in 1987, when the Tribe was awarded a one-year Tribal Court contract by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The judicial power of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians is vested exclusively in its Tribal Judicial System. The Court consists of three jurisdictional units: a Supreme Court, Tribal Court, and a Court of general jurisdiction. The overall goal of the Tribal Judicial System is to institutionalize the rule of the law to enhance the Tribe’s capability to provide judicial services to its Tribal Members. The Tribal Judicial System is an important exercise of the Tribe’s sovereignty.

EDUCATION
The Education Department oversees three federal programs: the Johnson-O’Malley (JOM) Program, the Adult Education Program and a library program made available by a grant from The Institute of Museum and Library Services. The department provides services that include after-school tutoring, GED classes, college assistance, computer classes, leadership classes and on-the-job training. This department is also responsible for administering the Fred L. McGhee Tuition Assistance educational scholarship program.

FAMILY SERVICES
The Family Services Department promotes self-sufficiency and well being through a variety of services that range from investigation of child abuse/neglect to crisis intervention for families and children. Services are available to enrolled members of the Poarch Band of Creek Indians, members of a federally recognized tribe and members of an enrolled household.

HEALTH
Established in 1984, the Poarch Creek Indian Health Program operates a full-service, outpatient clinic that provides health, medical, dental and pharmacy services to Poarch Creek Indians and First-Generation descendants up to age 19. In addition, the PCI Health Program oversees the Women, Infant and Children program (WIC) that is contracted through the state of Alabama.

HOUSING
The Poarch Creek Indian Housing Department helps to provide adequate housing opportunities to eligible Tribal Members. The Housing Department manages five rental subdivisions with a total of 95 family units and 44 senior citizen rental units. The Tribally Assisted Home Ownership (TAHO), Rehabilitation, Renovation Loans, and Section 184 Indian Loan programs are a few of the many services offered by the Housing Department. Currently 300 Tribal Members have utilized the TAHO program to finance and build homes of their own.

Our community is far bigger than just our Tribe. We work, play, go to school and raise our families with our fellow Alabamians. In fact, Tribal Government has donated and provided scholarships of more than $75,000,000 (since 2013).
